History

Originally built in 1906 and expanded in 1912, the Bergquist Family home was once a prominent part of the Southern Alberta farming community in early 1900's and for many decades. Originally located just 2 miles North of what is present day Carseland.

Escape Rooms

The Bergquist House has been given new life, so that laughter can once again echo through the house. The upstairs now contains escape rooms, all of which are loosely tied to local, rail and Canadian history. You'll have to be able to weed fact from fiction if you're going to make your way out in the ultimate escape room experience.
